Arthur Dahl, Pioneers, Laid To Rest

Funeral services were held on Monday in the Stake House for Arthur Dahl, one of Raymond's early pioneers who had accomplished much to be proud of during his life time of nearly 87 years.

Bishop J. O. Hicken conducted the service which commenced with the Stake Choir singing "Through Deepening Trails". The choir was led by W. C. Stone with Roi Stone at the organ.

After the opening prayer by Pres. L. L. Palmer, the choir sang, "O My Father", after which Bishop Hicken gave a brief account of the life of the deceased. Bishop Birt of the Cardston First Ward spoke a few words of appreciation of the life led by Mr Dahl, and of his association with him as his Bishop during his stay in Cardston.

President Heber Matkin of the Alberta Temple referred to the faithful service given by Mr Dahl during the time he was a temple worker; attending practically every session even though it overtaxed his strength.

A request made by Arthur Dahl 20 years ago, was fulfilled at his funeral when Mrs Elizabeth King and Mrs Fanny Walker sang "We'll Say Good Night Here and Good Morning Up There" after which D A Bennett, who was the first man he met upon his arrival here 52 years ago, spoke of his association with him down the years. Mr Bennet mentioned the hospitality with which the deceased had carried on all his business dealings.

After his talk, Joe McLean sang "Going Home".

In his talk, President Walker also referred to the exemplary life of Mr Dahl which was evidenced by his fine family.

"Abide With Me, Fast Falls the Eventide" was rendered by the Choir before the benediction was offered by Bishop Golden Snow.

The grave at Temple Hill Cemetery was Dedicated by Bishop William Jensen and the Pallbearers were members of the High Priests Quorum, I. B. Roberts, S. B. Card, A. J. Walton, Floyd Litchfield, L. D. King and Fred Piegras.

Arthur Dahl, who pioneered in this District, came from a pioneer family who crossed the plains to Utah, but when only nine years old he was left to help support his mother and three younger children. After working in mining camps and farms until his early twenties, he was able to attend and graduate from the BYU having studied Education.

In 1892 he married Janette Powelson in the Manti Temple and four years later he gave up his job as a Teacher to fulfill a mission to the Southern States.

Talking It Over with Tom Rudd

Five years have passed since our arrival in Raymond. During that period we have seen much progress in the building up of our town. The enjoyment of these public services is made possible through taxation, but this does not appear to be so in relation to the progress of our postal system within Raymond. Since April 1st of this year the Canadian letter rate has increased by 25%. This caused quite a controversy in the Federal parliament. In the debate Mr George Drew, leader of the progressive conservative party made the following interesting observation, "It is our opinion that mail delivery is a service which the tax-paying public have a right to expect the government to provide". It was also pointed out that the profits from postal revenue amounted to $6,500,000 during the year of 1953. If we are convinced that there is a need for a postal delivery and a collection service in Raymond: then ought we not use every ounce of vested authority, be it local provincial, or federal to make this possible.

It is said that a nation gets the type of government which it deserves. If this is so, we as a community will enjoy those facilities which we are prepared to work for. How about it Raymond?

Family Spats

Most families, however closely knit have their arguments and disagreements. But disagreements between parents should never be aired in front of the children. Small children are very impressionable and quarrelling among the adults they love may cause the development of a feeling of insecurity and unwantedness.

Just Chatter

The lovely spring like weather of last week has done a lot to lift the spirits and speed up the activities of farmers and housewives alike. The songs of the robins and meadow larks the sight and smell of burning stubble fields and even the sight of the Hutterite Ladies sun bonnets, lead us to believe that maybe summer is really on the way.

This grain delivery point received a two bushel quota last week, thus easing the extreme pressure on a number of purse strings.

There are two cases of scarlet fever in town but fortunately the children are not very ill with it.

Church Services in both churches were marked by Brownie Parade in honor of the mothers.

Mother's Day Service in the United Church, with Rev. John Moules in charge was highlighted at the close of the service by children of the Sunday School singing several songs and then filling down from the platform to receive small potted plants to present to each and every mother in attendance at the service. Some merriment was caused during this procedure by one small boy, who, apparently thinking that his mother deserved the very best, reached out for the large plant that was decorating the pulpit platform.

South Africa's biggest orchard is owned by the South African Railways Administration.

It all came about by the fact that fruit stones were hurled out of train windows by passengers.

Fruit trees grew up and out of this chance origin the administration got the idea to plant thousands of fruit trees alongside rail and on railway stations.

Time Out

It's time to let out children's hems, it's time to look for climbing stems, it's time to eye a whipped-cream cloud.

It's time to do what's not allowed, it's time to sweep and scrub and paint. To make things look like what they ain't.

It's time to sit and meditate, it's time to call and make a date, it's time to watch the world turn green—

It's time for spring, I mean!

Here's Mart Kenney, who is celebrating this year the 20th anniversary of his first cross-Canada radio broadcast. The popular Canadian band leader attained the peak in his profession by the barn-storming technique, combined with almost weekly broadcasts. With his Western Gentlemen he has appeared personally at nearly every bandstand in the country and - by radio - in nearly every home. He specializes in popular music for listening as well as dancing and never forgets that "mom and dad" may be listening while the youngsters are prancing around. Vocalist with the band is Norma Locke - now Mrs. Mart Kenney; they have their own nostalgic disk show twice a week on CBC Trans-Canada in which they look back in thought and song over Kenny's two decades as a leader in Canadian showbusiness.

Still Shall The Organ Play
God made of my body a temple,
A place to honour His Name,
And deep in it, built an organ,
To play as the worshippers came.
My temple has lost its beauty
Its walls are broken and scarred,
But the mighty organ still stands there,
And plays on exultant, unmarred.
High o'er the walls, rings an anthem,
Triumphant it swells to the skies,
A message of hope and of comfort.
A glad song that never dies.
And bravely yet peals the music,—
Still shall the organ play,
Till Death has destroyed my temple,
And God calls me to endless day.

Quick Tricks for the Kitchen

Apricot-Pecan Doughnuts—Here's a dessert your school children may like when they run in for lunch between school sessions. You'll need ½ dozen plain doughnuts. Slice them in half crosswise. Combine ¼ teaspoons grated lemon rind. Mix well. Spread 1 teaspoon of this jam mixture on each doughnut half and sprinkle with ½ teaspoon of chopped pecans. Put in shallow pan in a 400 degree F. oven for five minutes. You'll have 12 apricot-pecan doughnuts.

Color, Please?

Chocolate brown, vanilla pink, Strawberry red and just plain white. What shade of milk shall I select—Is there no lemon milk in sight? Maybe I'll see that purple cow. Her sides all brushed and smooth as silk; I'll hear her give a friendly moo And drink a glass of purple milk!

When Dr. Charles W. Elliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University, was ninety years of age and his wife dying he called at the home of his neighbor, Dr. Francis G. Peabody, and requested that an infant grandson of Mr. Peabody's might be brought down to the room. The mother brought the baby to him and he looked at it and held it for a while. When he got up to leave, Mr. Peabody walked out of the door with him and there, after a moment's silence, Elliot said simply, "I wanted to hold in my arms a life that was just beginning."
